

The Election shenanigans you DIDN'T see: Farage pushing a boozed-up Cameron in a shopping trolley, Miliband and Sturgeon enjoying a Highland Reel - but is everything what it seems?

- These pictures show what the hidden election shenanigans could have been like, featuring all the main party leaders
- Famed photographer Alison Jackson provided a glimpse of how they might have relaxed in the run-up to polling day
- The photos include former Labour leader Ed Miliband enjoying Highland Reel with SNP counterpart Nicola Sturgeon
- David Cameron can also be seen sharing a pint with Ukip's Nigel Farage and being pushed about in shopping trolley

By SAM TONKIN FOR MAILONLINE

PUBLISHED: 17:27, 10 May 2015 | UPDATED: 19:38, 10 May 2015

Share 1.4k shares

278 View comments

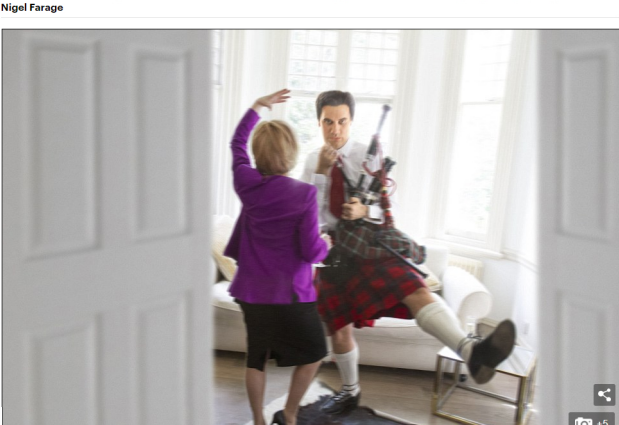

These pictures show what the hidden election shenanigans could have been like - with one capturing a boozed-up David Cameron being wheeled around in a shopping trolley by Nigel Farage.

Famed photographer Alison Jackson has given an entertaining 'behind-the-scenes' glimpse of what the party leaders might have got up to as a way of unwinding in the lead-up to polling day.

The images include former Labour leader Ed Miliband enjoying a Highland Reel with Scottish National Party counterpart Nicola Sturgeon - possibly taking a break from trying to plot David Cameron's downfall - while the Prime Minister shares a pint down the pub with Ukip's Nigel Farage.

Unwinding: A boozed-up David Cameron lookalike can be seen being pushed around in a shopping trolley by Ukip leader Nigel Farage

Enjoying a dance: Former Labour leader Ed Miliband looks to be treating SNP counterpart Nicola Sturgeon to a Highland Reel

Lookalikes of the party leaders also show Mr Cameron being pushed around in a shopping trolley, beer in hand.

Meanwhile, Nick Clegg can be seen scouring a giant list of job vacancies following his resignation as Liberal Democrat party leader.

It is not the first time Alison Jackson has come up with a behind-the-scenes imagination of what life is like for those in the public eye.

She has previously set up pictures of Kate Middleton and the Queen enjoying a royal baby shower for Prince George, along with snaps of the Queen meeting her great-granddaughter Princess Charlotte for the first time.

In those Her Majesty can be seen changing nappies and warming a baby's bottle.

Man about town: The Prime Minister cycles around with Nigel Farage. The pair of lookalikes were snapped by photographer Alison Jackson

Down the pub: Later on Mr Farage and Mr Cameron can be seen having an election day drink down the pub. The Ukip leader appears to be enjoying a yard of ale

Job hunting: A Nick Clegg lookalike checks the classifieds as he begins his search for a new job after quitting as Liberal Democrat leader